WESTCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL

FLIGHT NINETEEN-SEVENTY-TWO

If you will recall, when yearbook sales started, the main objective was to procure enough money to send the Fletcher family to camp. You will be happy to know that this objective has been reached. The yearbook you are now holding allows the Fletcher family to spend 6 1/2 minutes more in Camp Phire.

It isn't often in one's lifetime that one can do so much to make the world a better place to live in. Perhaps if everyone took the trouble to do this type of deed, war would cease to exist. Fellow Comets, give yourself a well deserved pat on the back.

graph, two of these students collapsed from an emotional fit.

Here the formal times are surrendered to the camera's indifferent gaze: weddings, graduations, births and official portraits taken every ten years to falsify appearances. Even snapshots meant to gather afternoons with casual ease are rigid. Smiles are too buoyant. Tinny laughter echoes from the staged scene on an artificial beach. And yet we want to believe this is how it was: That children's hair always bore the recent marks of combs; that trousers, even at picnics, were always creased and we traveled years with the light but earnest intimacy of linked hands or arms arranged over shoulders.

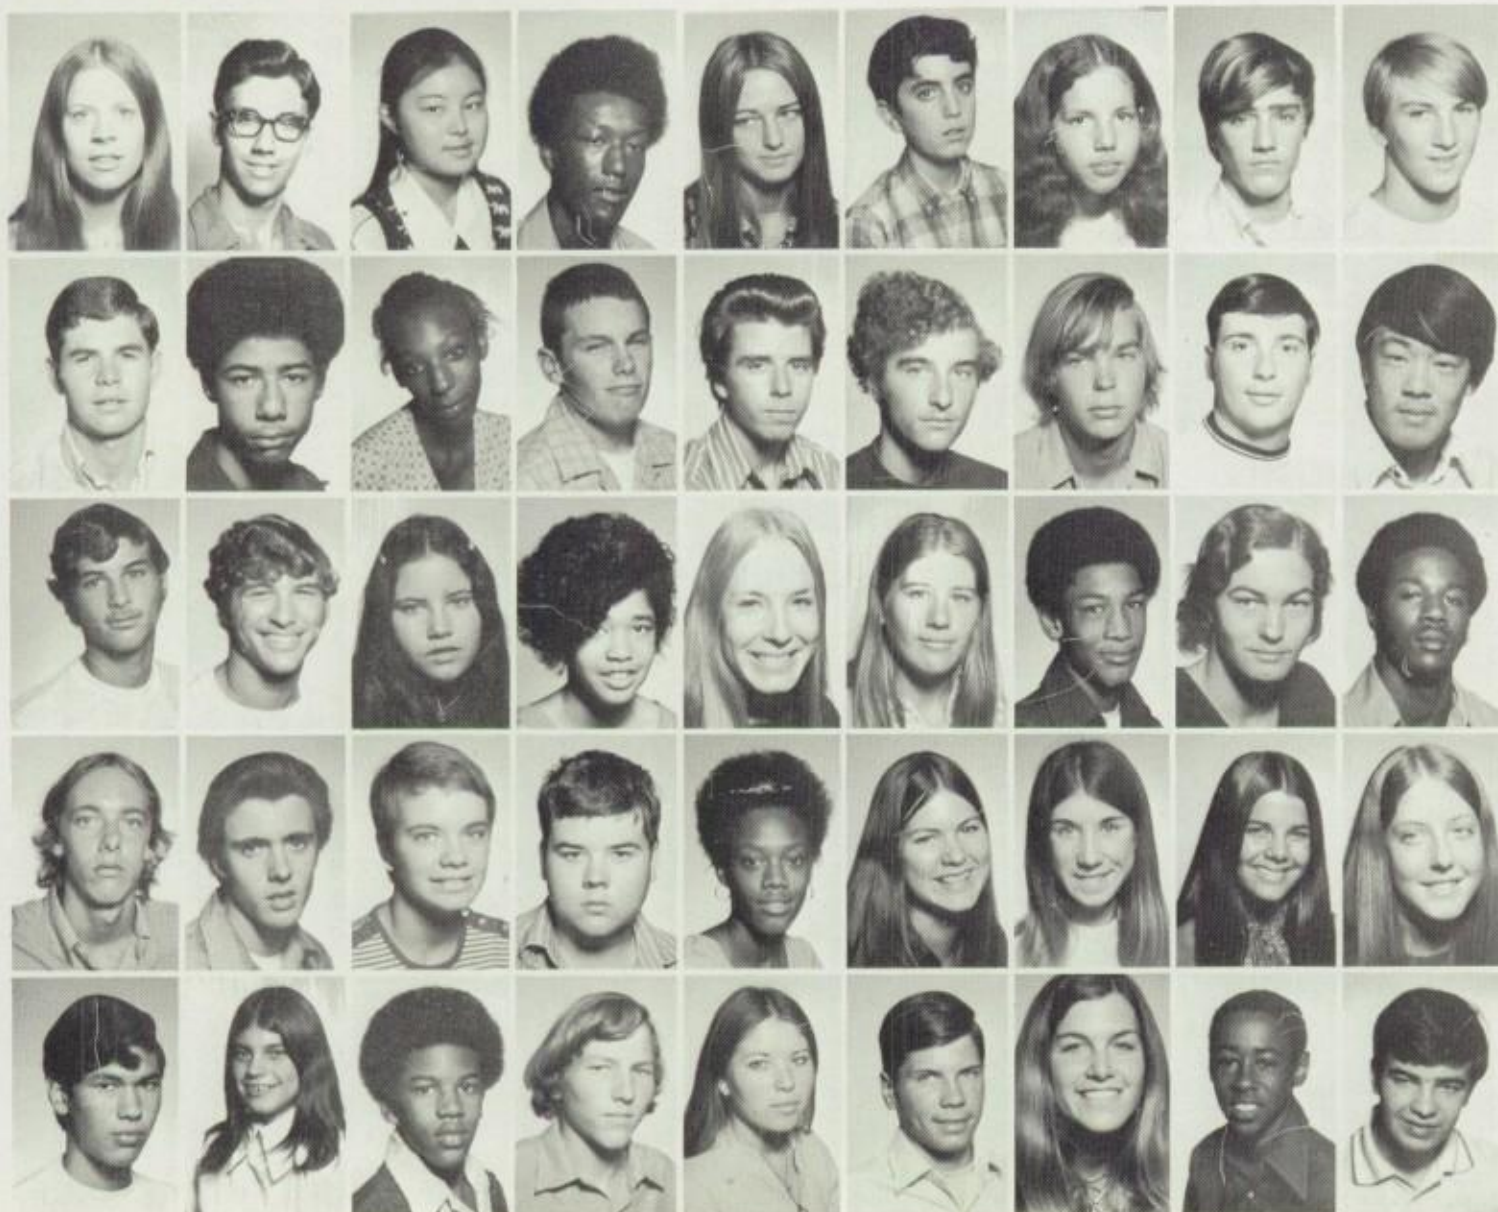

This is the record of our desired life: Pleasant, leisurely on vacations, wryly comic before local landmarks, competent auditors of commencement speakers, showing in our poses that we believed what we were told. But this history contains no evidence of aimless nights when the wilderness of ourselves sprang up to swallow the outposts of what we thought we were. Nowhere can we see tears provoked by anything but joy. There are no pictures of our brittle, lost intentions. We burned the negatives that we felt did not give a true account and with others made this abridgement of our lives.

DRAMA

REEL ONE

Adrien Stoutenburg

It was all technicolor
from bullets to nurses.
The guns gleamed like cars
and blood was as red
as the paint on dancers.
The screen shook with fire
and my bones whistled.
It was like life, but better.

I held my girl's hand,
in the deepest parts,
and we walked home, after,
with the snow falling,
but there wasn't much blue
in the drifts on the corners:
just white and more white
and the sound track so dead
you could almost imagine the trees were talking.

“THE MATCHMAKER”

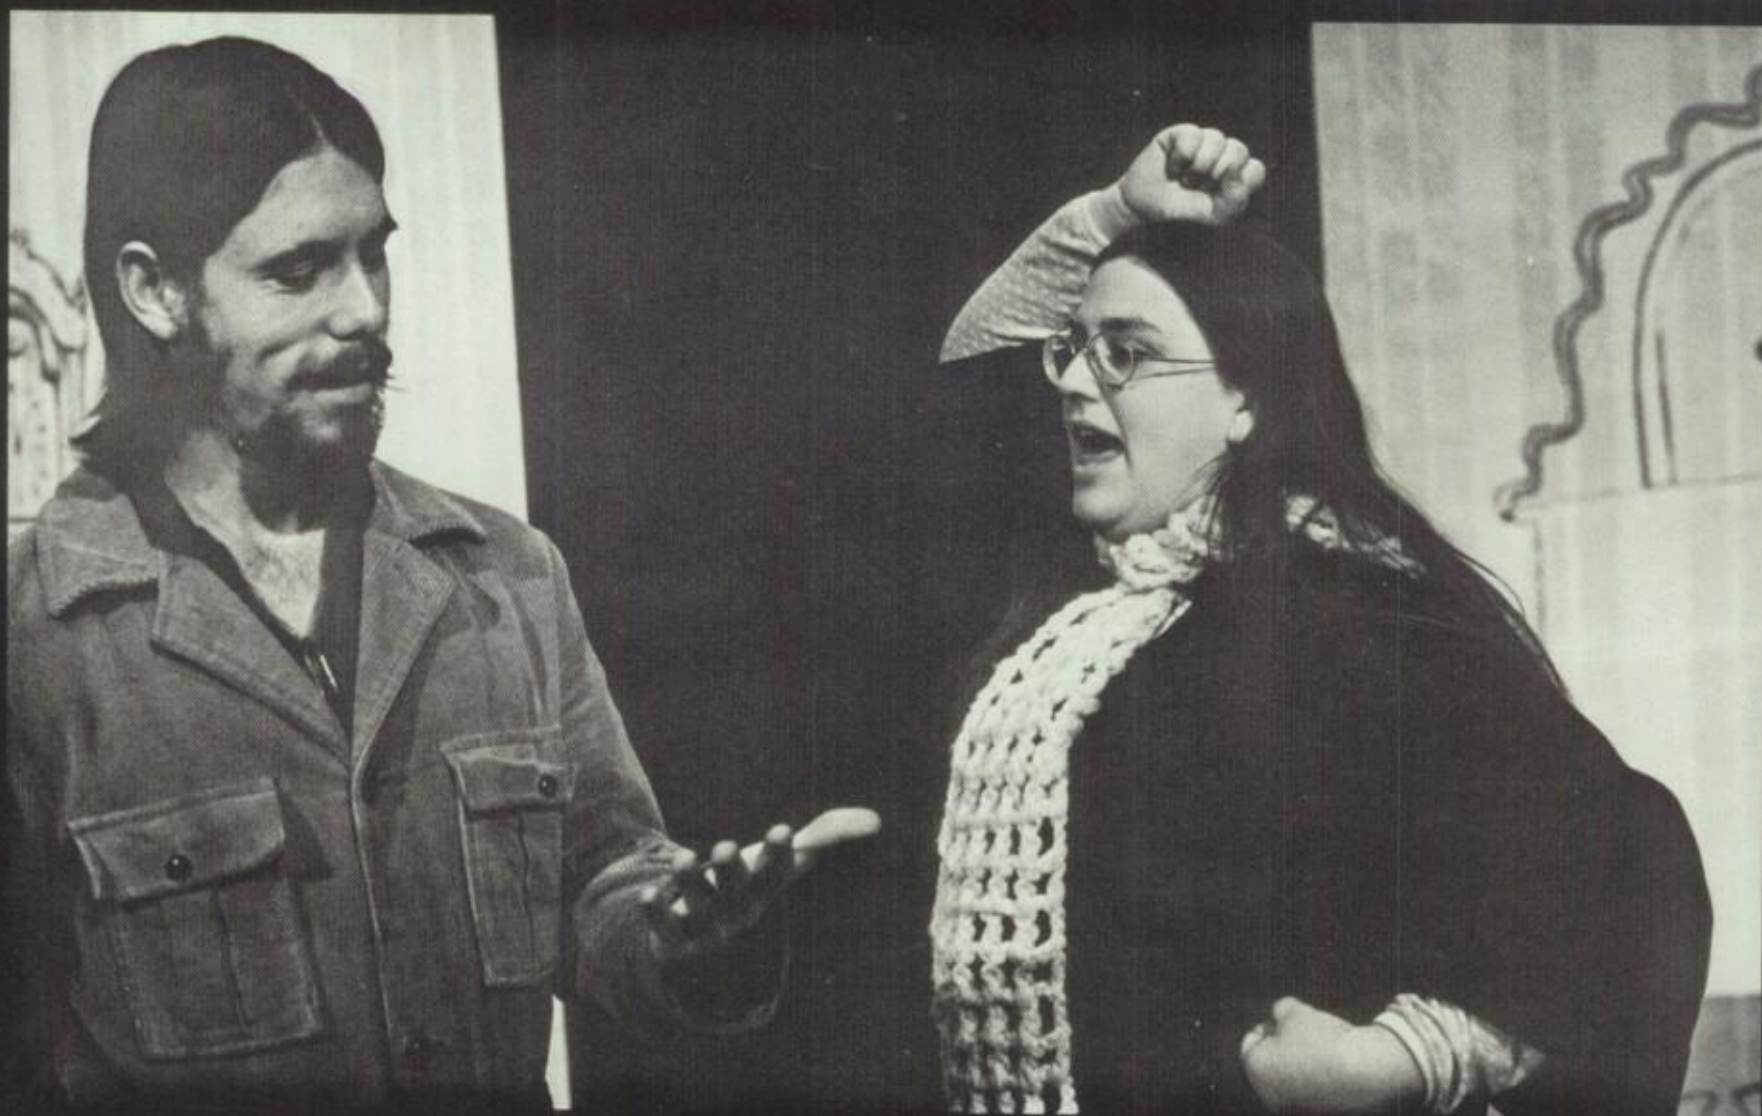

THE INVOICE

I once wrote a letter as follows:
dear Jim, I would like to borrow 200 dollars from you
to see me through.

I also wrote another: dearest M/
please come.
There is no one
here at all.

I got word today,
viz: hey
sport, how are you making it?
And, why don't you get with it.

-Robert Creeley

FALL ACTIVITIES

Although this year's Junior/Senior game was met with a wave of indifference, a determined few braved the rain to see the game.

For the first time in both schools history, Bernards and Westchester met on the football field.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming princesses (left to right): Gwen Yamanaka, Lettergirls; Chris Shuman, Drill Team; Pat Barnett, Basketball; Barbara Anderson, Football; Trisha Moak, Cross Country.

Homecoming queen: Gwen Yamanaka

WINTER WONDERLAND

Winter Wonderland Queen: Nancy Glogow (Lettermen). Princesses: Irene Andreadis (Knights & Ladies); Karen Caldwell

(Shereens); Cynthia Campbell (Squires); Debbie English (Athenians); Debbie Musgrove (Lydians); Marilyn Staroba (Gabrinians).

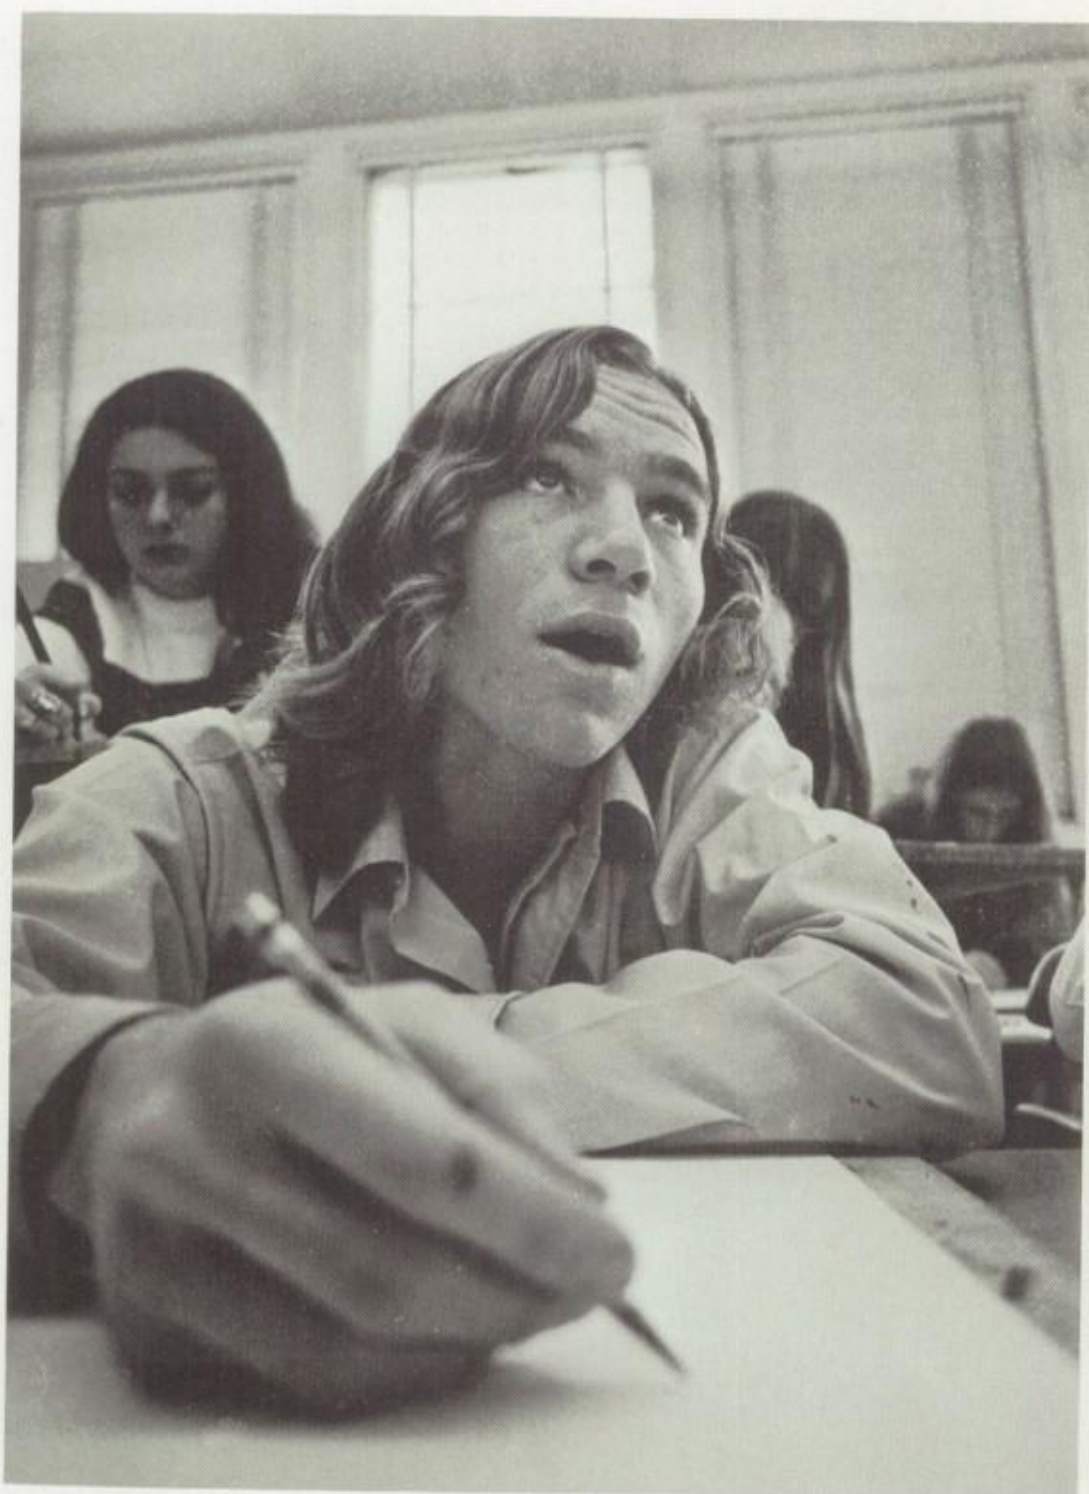

LUNCHTIME

Students may utilize their large amounts of passing time (6 min.) for a leisurely stroll across campus, a chat with one of our always accessible administrators, or a quick (?) visit to a helpful counselor.

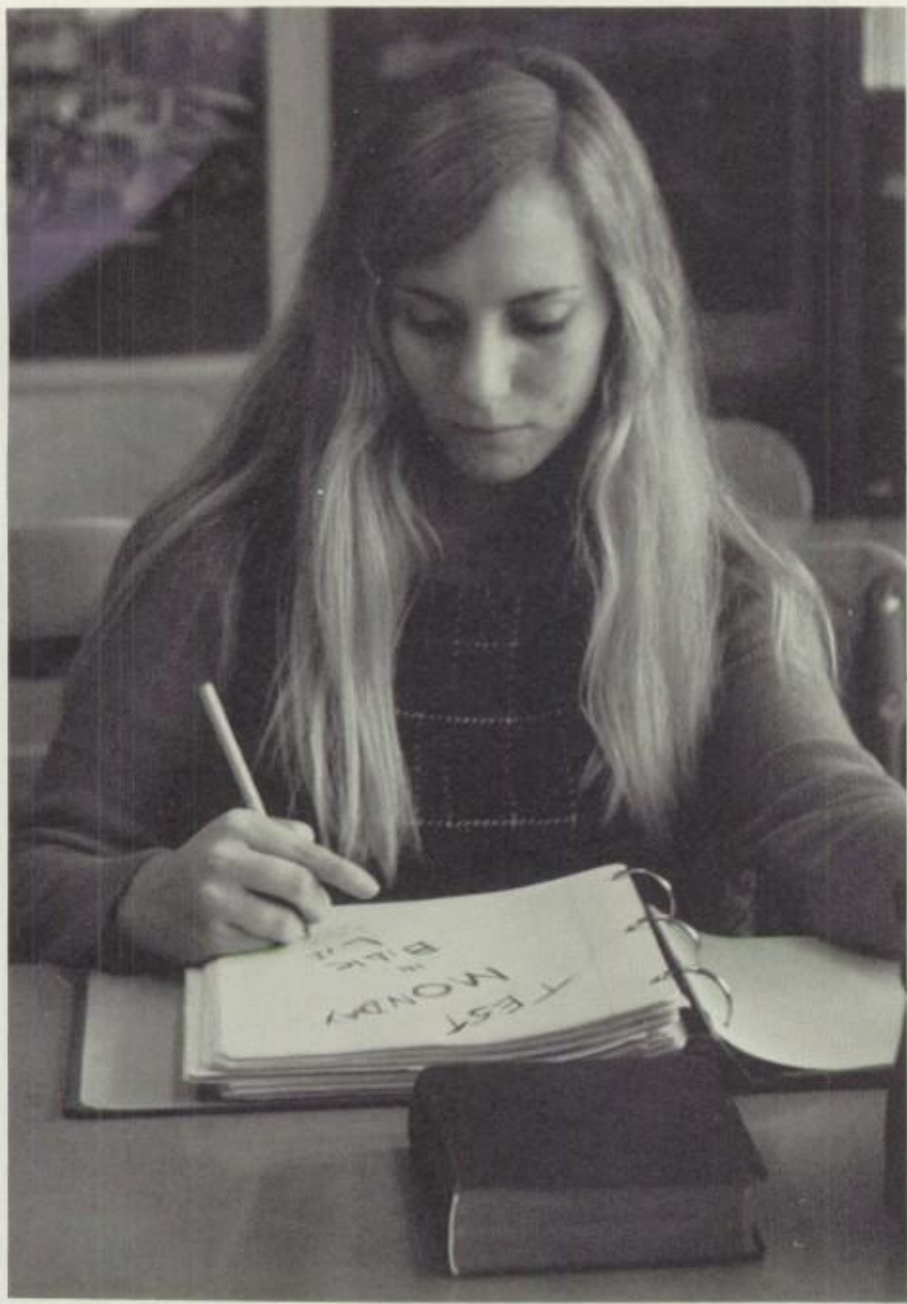

The average student at Westchester High spends approximately 816 1/2 hours per school year in scheduled classes. This does not include the additional hour per week that academic classes can require their students to spend in resource centers, nor does it include time spent in homework. Classes and classroom activities occupy a sizeable portion of the students' time; and classes, depending on the student, the teacher, and the subject matter, determine the difference between a disastrous boring semester and a fantastic one.

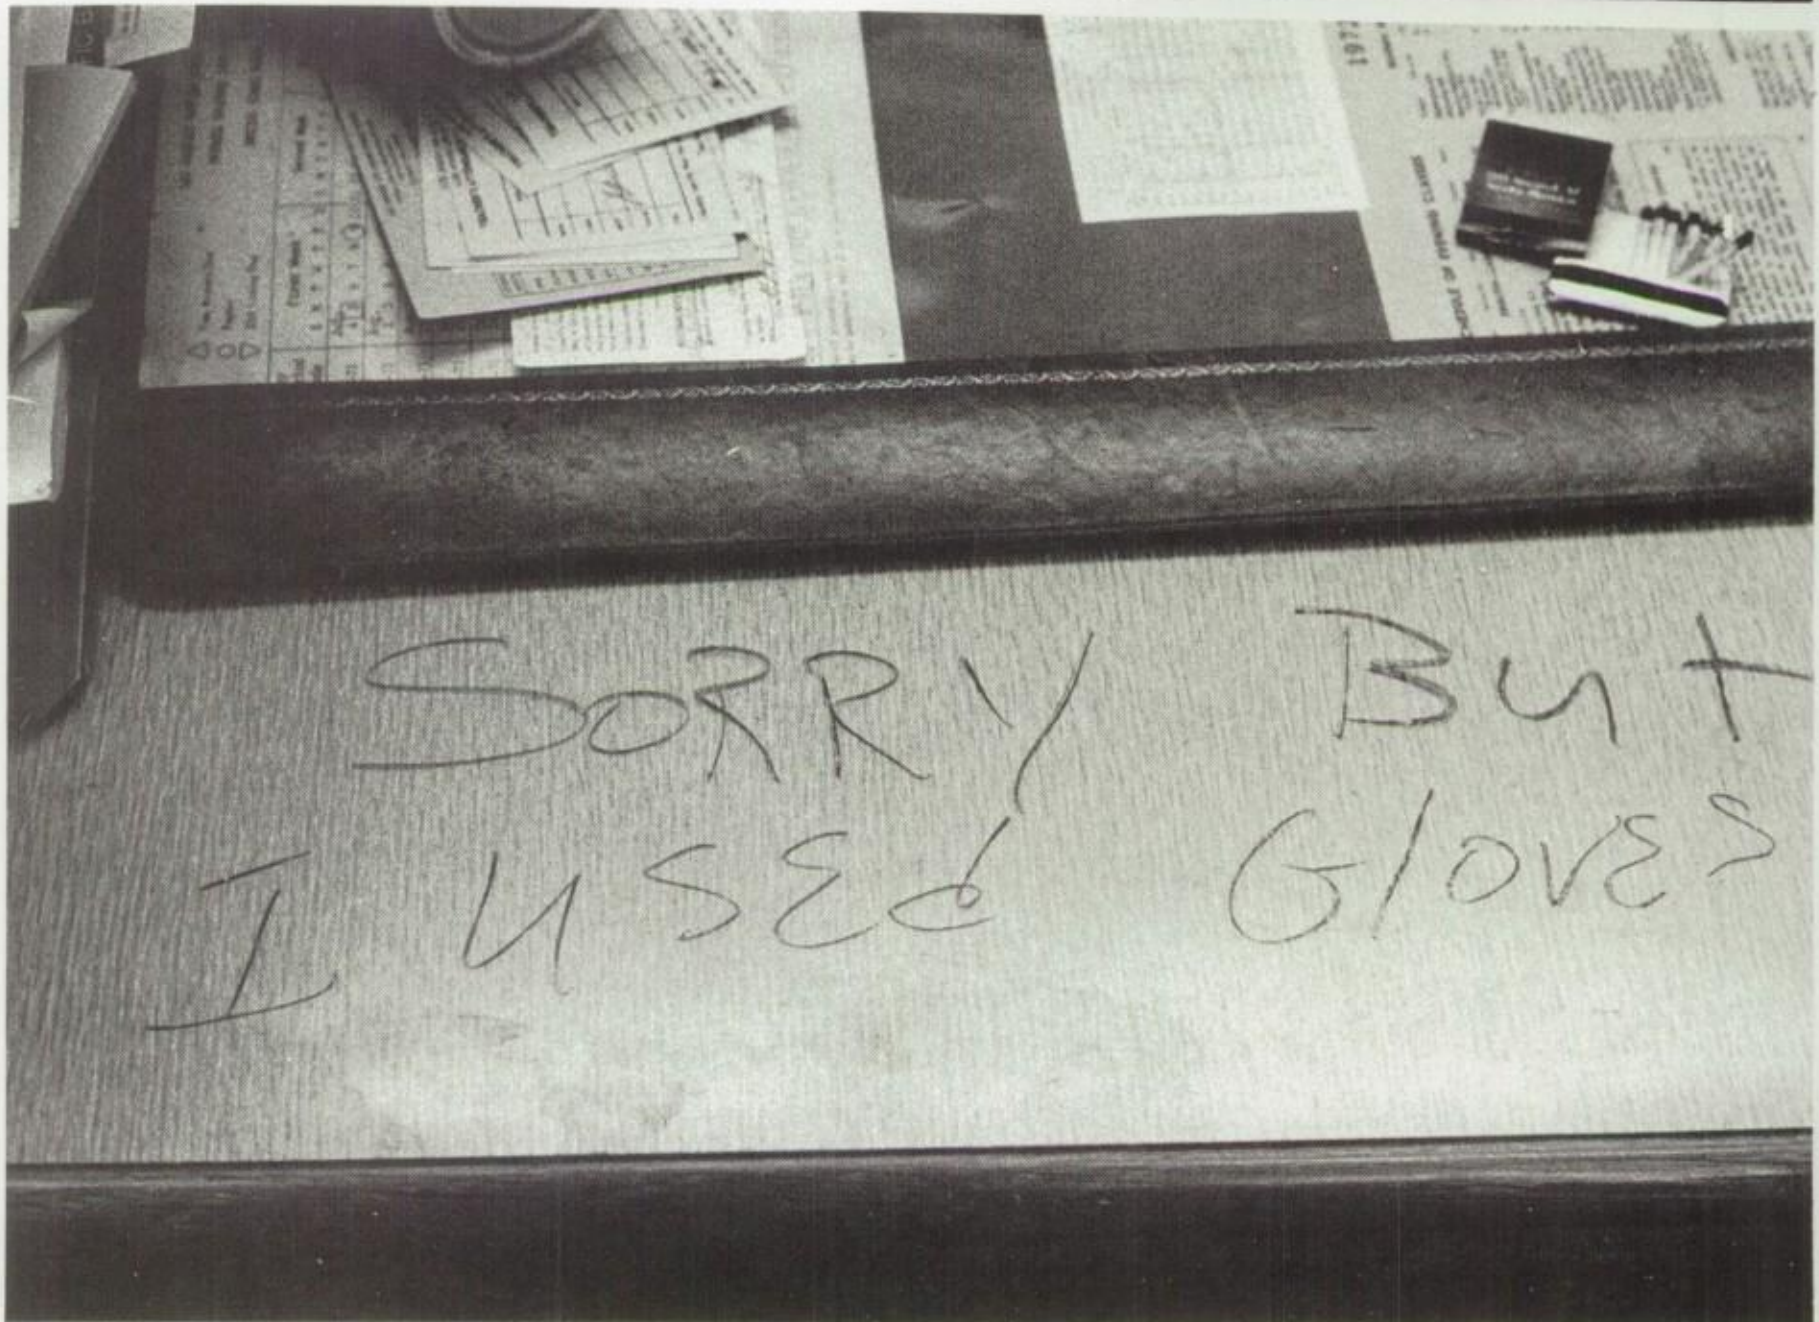

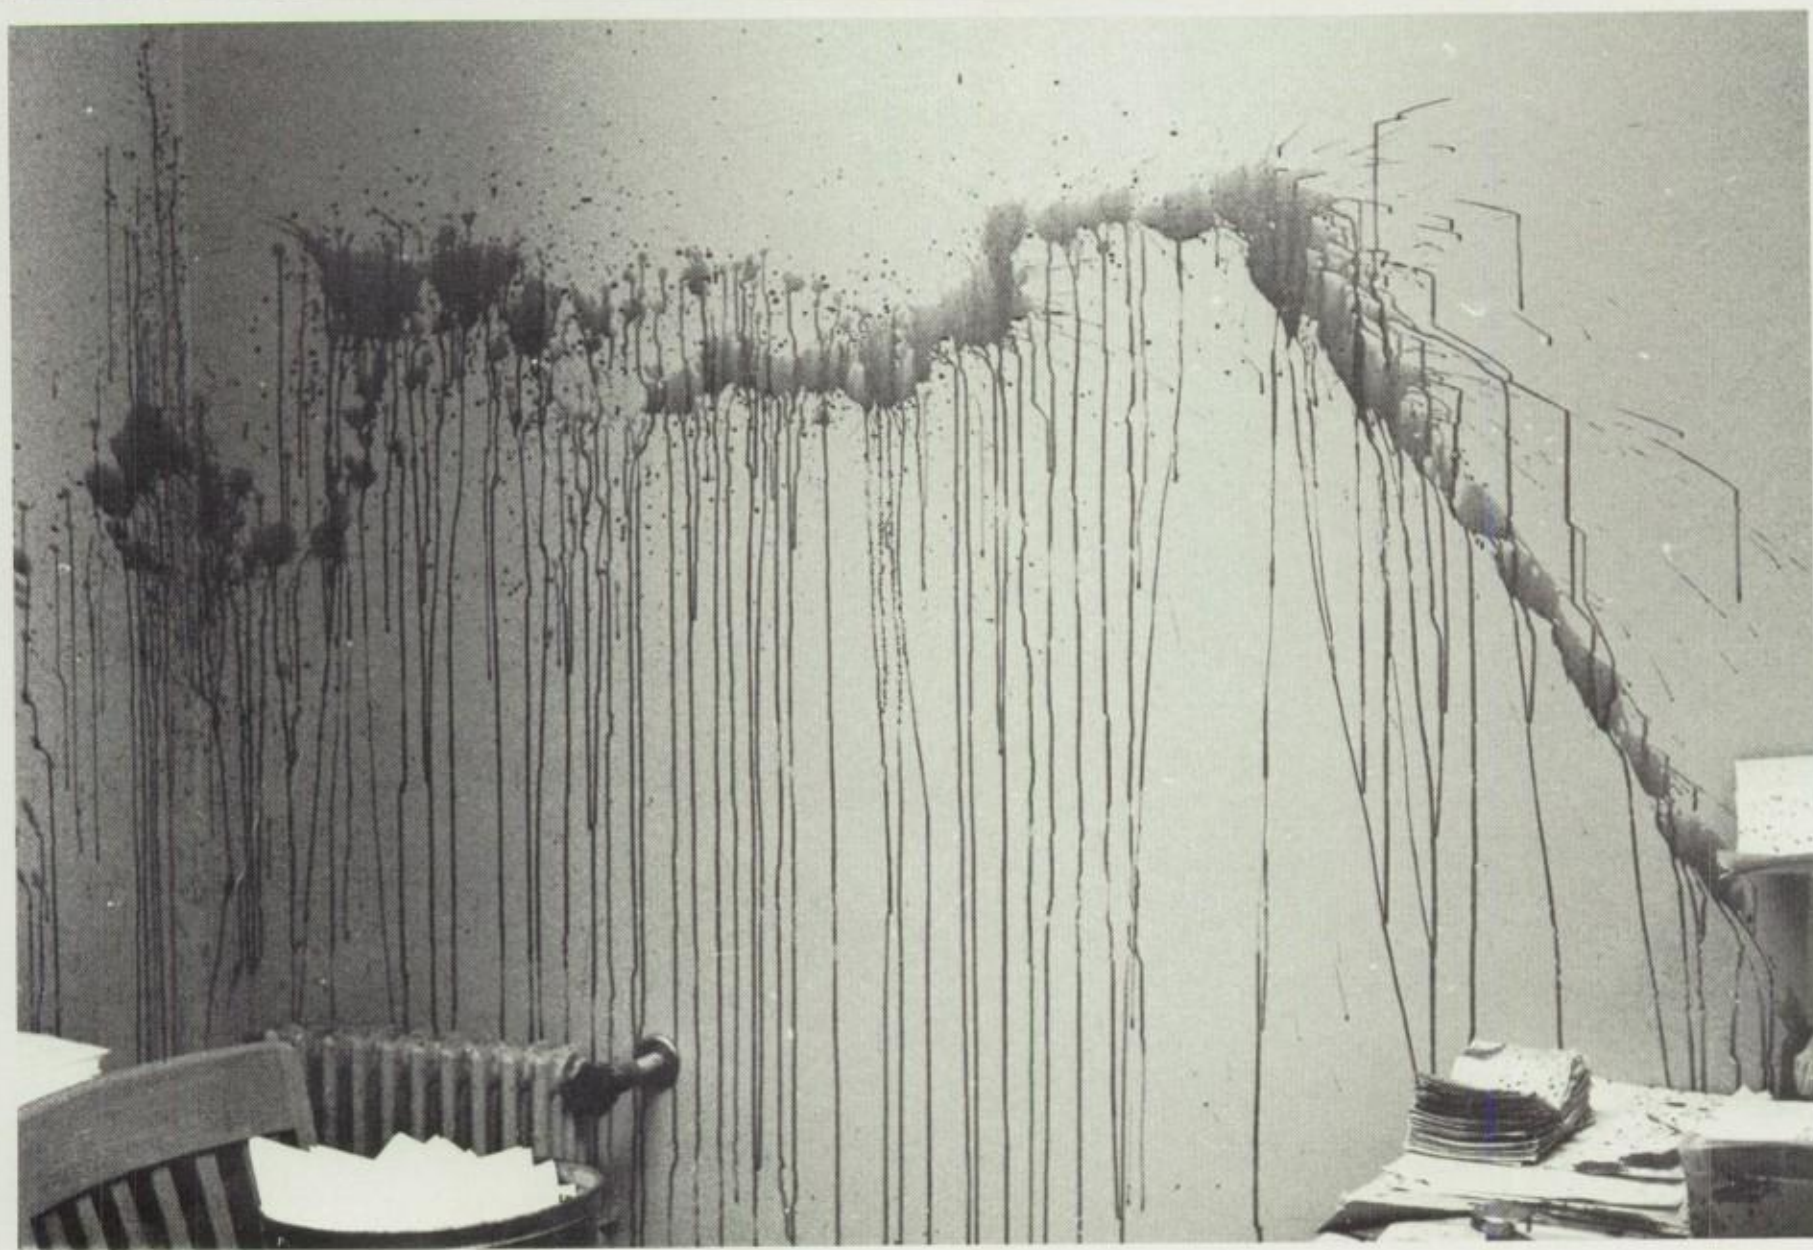

This year Westchester students witnessed even more changes in independent study. This year each and every student had at least two periods of independent study time, to be used on or off campus. If the student stayed on campus (and until spring he had no choice), he was encouraged to study on the lawns, in the library, or in the fabulous resource centers. If the student chose to leave (with the aid of the proper little pink, yellow, or blue card), he was expected to study at home and refrain from causing trouble, but he was allowed to leave . . . a Westchester first!

MARCHING BAND

RAW!

It is commonly believed that the outcome of sporting events is determined by the throng of noise expelled by the specators. This speculation brings to mind the now celebrated quotation emitted by none other than Boris Pasternowski, who, after completing a 24 year game of chess played through the mail, remarked, "Although I won, I feel the fact that my opponent died last year may have had something to do with it."

The statement that best sums up the WHS football team's season is a phrase that has been immortalized by that eloquent phrase coiner, William F. Buckley. Aside from its relevance for our day, it also carries immense social impact. His statement: "You win some, you lose some."

Dropping back with the ball ripe in my palm grained and firm as the flesh of a living charm.

I taper and coil myself down, raise arm to fake,
running a little, seeing my targets emerge like quail above a wheat field's lake.

And as I run and weigh, measure and test,
the light kindles on helmets, and angry leap;
but secretly, coolly, as though stretching a hand to his chest,
I lay the ball in the arms of my planing end,
as true as metal, as deftly as surgeon's wrist.

We thought that the Westchester High School basketball season was best summed up in a quote from the world famous philanthropist Chiang Kai Shek. As he was being pushed from his intellectual plane, sans parachute, into a vat of acid filled with hungry water moccassins and other assorted shoes he was heard to utter the now immortal words, "Some people sure have an odd sense of humor!"

Pitcher

His art is eccentricity, his aim
How not to hit the mark he seems to aim at,

His passion how to avoid the obvious,
His technique how to vary the avoidance.

The others throw to be comprehended. He Throws to be a moment misunderstood.

Yet not too much. Not errant, arrant, wild,
But every seeing aberration willed.

Not to, yet still, still to communicate
Making the batter understand too late.

This Season's track team got off to a fine start under the dedicated coaching of Joe Douglas. The team had fine performances from Earl Robinson, Gary Pownall, Tracy Atkins, Mike Cully, Mike Botkin, Lansing Smith, and Ted Fairbrother. Although the team improved their sprint efforts, the long distance and field events were notably stronger.

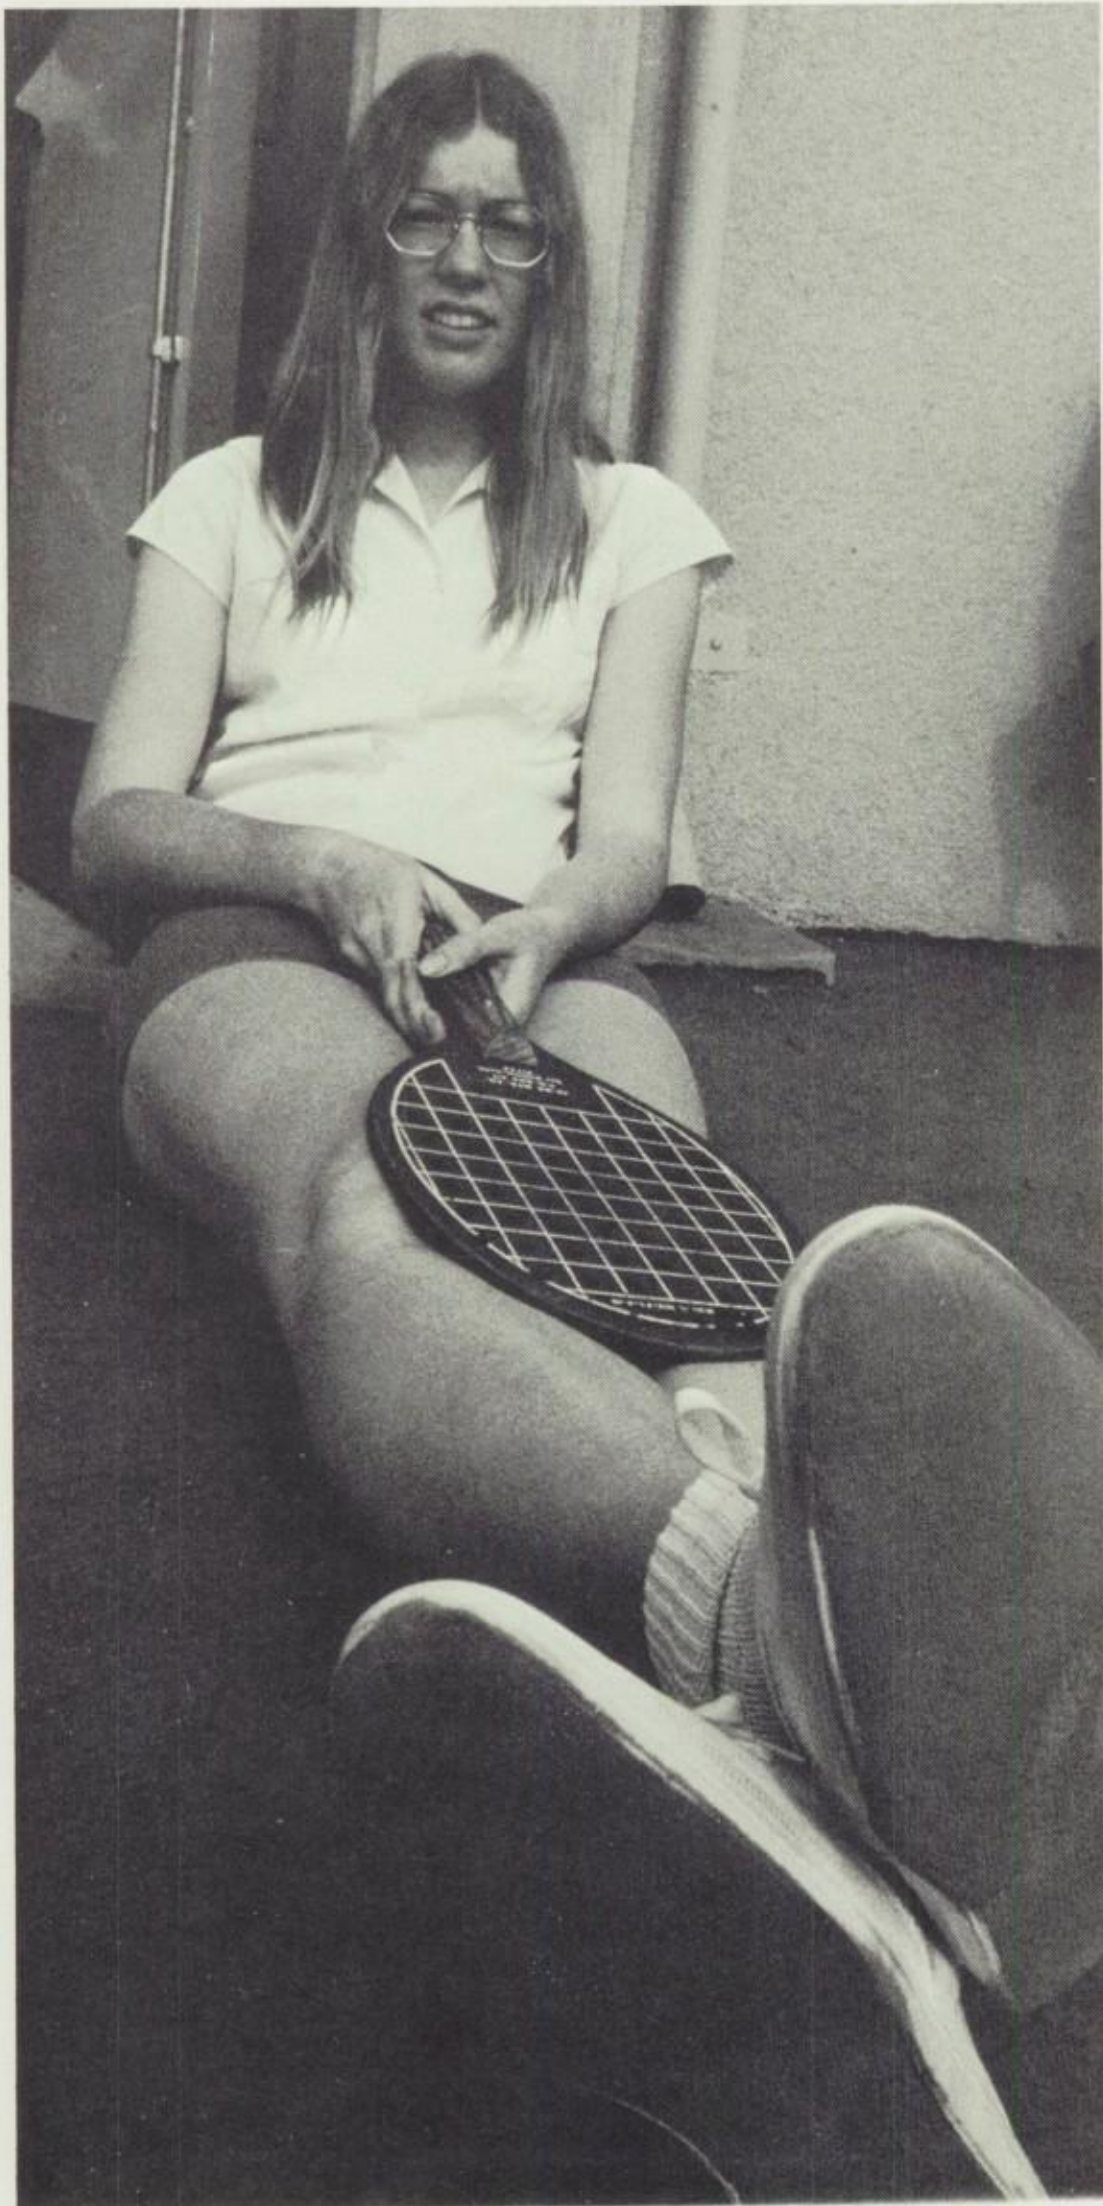

The gym team had one of its finest seasons in many years due primarily to fine team performances and fine individual effort of Ron Bell. Probably the only qualm that coach Gambina confronted was the lack of top notch equipment.

It has really
been a long time
year! It is a wonder that everyone survived.
I wish you all the success in your future. Have a nice summer
Luv,
Alison

Richard - - -
it's been great meeting
you in chem, and
you glad it's over.
Hope you have success
in your future endeavors

Richard
I'm really glad we became friends even though
it was only in chemistry.
Hope to see you this summer
but if not maybe next year. Have a great vacation and the best of luck always.
Love
Peace
Sue

you're far out, you great. Good luck in summer good luck in senior year. Hope I see you in summer and kiss my sssssssss. you friend-me. Dang!

Rich

I really feel sorry for you, having
to stay here at good old old Westchester another year. Are you hidding - a kilowatt laser?
